

Canadian Journal of Latin American and Caribbean Studies

Current editor(s) and email address for queries: Jessica Stites Mor, University of British Columbia, Okanagan (cjlacs.editor@ubc.ca)

Website: www.tandfonline.com/toc/rclc20/current

Publisher: Routledge, Taylor and Francis Group

Is the journal open access? No, by subscription

Do authors pay a fee for publication? No

Frequency of publication: Three times per year

Articles published per year: 20-22

Minimum and maximum length of articles: 7,500-10,000 words, excluding the Works Cited section, tables, and notes

Languages of submission: English, Spanish, French, and Portuguese

Translation policy: Author responsible for own translation

Peer review process: Double-blind. Articles are subject to screening by an editor; those selected for peer review are sent to 2-3 external referees.

Approximate acceptance rate: 20%

Disciplines covered: Humanities, social sciences, and cultural studies

Quantitative-qualitative balance: 20-80; authors should write with a multi-disciplinary audience in mind

Editorial philosophy: To publish original cutting-edge research for an academic audience across Latin America, Europe and North America

Use of photographs or graphics: Monochrome

Are proposals for special guest-edited thematic issues considered? Yes

Other special features of the journal: Interactive online text in all four journal languages

Social media presence: www.facebook.com/calacs.canada/

Planned future developments: Editorial team broadening scope of journal to include indigenous studies and cultural geography.