ANNOUNCEMENTS

NATIONAL DIRECTORY OF LATIN AMERICANS. Dr. William Carter, Chief of the Hispanic Division of the Library of Congress, announces that funding is assured for updating and publishing the National Directory of Latin Americans, and plans are being made to begin in May, 1981. Questionnaires completed by LASA members will be put in a data base, which will be maintained for the project in the Hispanic Division. We owe a special vote of thanks to Dr. Carter, who has directed planning for the project, and to the Tinker Foundation, the Organization of American States, and to the Library of Congress for direct funding which will make this project possible. The projected date for publication of the third edition of the National Directory is 1983-84.

SUPPLEMENT TO LATIN AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN: A DISSERTATION BIBLIOGRAPHY. LASA members will soon receive their copy of an update of this useful publication. This supplement contains 1,686 dissertation titles and 100 Master's thesis titles which have appeared since 1977. University Microfilms hopes to continually update the original compilation, and to date, 9,168 titles, largely of dissertations, are available from University Microfilms on Latin America and the Caribbean.

A TWO-VOLUME ENCYCLOPEDIA OF POLITICAL SYSTEMS to be published early in 1983 is seeking professors and advanced graduate students to contribute articles on Latin American nations. Articles will be by-lined and authors paid 5 cents per word. Articles desired with word lengths in parentheses are:

- Argentina (8000)
- Bolivia (3000)
- Brazil (9000)
- Chile (5500)
- Colombia (4000)
- Costa Rica (1500)
- Cuba (3000)*
- Dominican Rep. (3000)*
- Ecuador (3500)
- El Salvador (1500)
- Guatemala (3000)
- Honduras (3000)
- Mexico (4000)*
- Nicaragua (4000)*
- Panama (5000)*
- Paraguay (3500)*
- Peru (4500)*
- Puerto Rico (3000)
- Uruguay (3500)*
- Venezuela (6000)
- Haiti (1500)
- Surinam (750)
- Guyana (1000)
- Former British Caribbean (various lengths)

* $50 extra will be paid for these articles if received by May 15, 1981.

SECOND REPORT OF THE 1982 PROGRAM COMMITTEE for
LASA's TENTH NATIONAL MEETING IN WASHINGTON, D.C. on APRIL 14-17, 1982
A Joint Meeting with
SEMINAR ON THE ACQUISITION OF LATIN AMERICAN LIBRARY MATERIALS (SALALM)

Calling all neo-corporatists, bureaucratic authoritarians, monarchists, colonial fascists, discredited liberals, populists, Marxists, syndicalists, anarchists, and power contenders of all types—even nonaligned academics! Our Committee urgently needs more panel, workshop, and roundtable proposals. All entries must be in to the Program Committee by April 20, 1981. We are eager to receive more suggestions for topics and coordinators so that our program will reflect the high quality and vast diversity of our Association.

All offers to organize sessions must include: (1) a concise description of the topic and its importance; (2) a sketch of the format; (3) a list of potential participants, whether or not any have been contacted; (4) a brief professional biography of the proponent as it relates to the suggested topic; and (5) complete addresses and phone numbers for the proponent. Copies of proposals must be sent to all members of the Committee. After meeting in May, 1981, we will immediately notify all proponents and LASA members of the panels selected for the 1982 convention. Then everyone will have an opportunity to volunteer to serve as paper presenters or discussants at the chosen sessions.

Listed below are the proposals received as of February 10, 1981. These arrived in response to a questionnaire at the Ninth National Meeting in Bloomington, a separate mailing thereafter, and our Committee report in the December LASA Newsletter. Since we hope to follow the precedent of the last two LASA conventions by offering approximately 80 panels or workshops and 20 roundtables, there are many slots still to be filled. If you would like to propose a session or volunteer to participate in one already entered, please write the Program Committee at once:

CALL FOR PAPERS

JULY 1-3, 1981. DOWLING COLLEGE'S MEDITERRANEAN VI CONFERENCE will be held at the Italo-Latin American Institute (EUR), Rome, Italy. The theme will be "Recent Research in Mediterranean and Latin American Themes." Present sessions include: Italian Influences in the Americas; The Mediterranean Theatre; Ecology in the Mediterranean Basin;
The Gaucho in Latin American Studies; Charles III and Latin America; Catalan Expansion in the Mediterranean. Other sessions are also being considered. For information, contact Norman Holub, Dept. of History, Dowling College, Oakdale, NY 11769.

The Third annual conference of the ASSOCIATION OF CARIBBEAN STUDIES will be held in Port-au-Prince, Haiti, on July 15-17, 1981. The theme for the conference is "The Caribbean in Transition." Proposals for papers are invited from faculty in all academic disciplines. At the 1980 conference, papers were grouped by the following areas:
Because of the growth of the Association and the development of its areas of interest, papers are especially welcome this year in: Art, History, Dance, Media, Folklore, Music, Geography, Sciences. Abstracts of 200-300 words should be sent before May 1, 1981 to A. L. McLeod, Rider College, PO Box 6400, Lawrenceville, NJ 08648 (609-896-0800).
PAPA GIVES BIRTH

Under the auspices of the Department of Cultural Affairs of the Organization of American States, the first meeting of editors of periodicals dedicated to Latin America and the Caribbean was held in October at the OAS Headquarters in Washington. As a result of the meeting an organization provisionally named the Panamerican Periodical Association (PAPA) was formed.

The goals of PAPA are twofold: On the one hand, there are the general ends of creating mutual understanding among the Americas; articulating the culture and ideals of Latin America and the Caribbean; promoting intellectual and scholarly research about and for the Americas; advocating freedom of expression in the articulation and publication of ideas about the area; and, developing the institutional and financial support for the articulation, development, and publication of such ideas.

On the other hand, there are specific goals of furthering the ends of each of the member publications; fostering editorial excellence in the dissemination of their ideas; improving the development, readability, and placement of editorial manuscripts and materials; bettering the design and presentation of these materials; facilitating their technical reproduction; locating, soliciting, and developing proper publics for them; promoting knowledge of their availability; serving these ends by establishing such mechanisms as an editorial clearing house; cooperative relationships concerning mailing, distribution, and indexing; syndication services, etc.

Officers of the organization for the first year of activity are: Barry B. Levine, editor of the Caribbean Review, president; Dolores Moyano Martín, editor of the Handbook of Latin American Studies, and Saul Sosnowsky, editor of Hispamérica, vice-presidents; Celso Rodríguez, assistant editor of the Inter-American Review of Bibliography, secretary-treasurer. Alfredo A. Roggiano, editor of Revista Iberoamericana, and Paul P. Harrison, editor of the Journal of Inter-American Studies and World Affairs, advisors. Further information may be obtained by writing Barry B. Levine, Caribbean Review, Florida International University, Miami, FL 33199.
MARCH 1981

The following announcement from the December, 1980, NECLAS Newsletter is reprinted for the benefit of LASA members who may wish to respond to this tragic event:

INSTITUTO DE HISTORIA HISPANOAMERICANA "GONZALO FERNANDEZ DE OVIEDO," Madrid, Spain

In December, 1978, a fire destroyed all but 2-3,000 of the nearly 20,000 volumes dealing with the history of the Americas which were housed at the Instituto "Gonzalo Fernández de Oviedo" in Madrid. A constituent organization of the Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas, the Instituto is considered to have possessed one of the finest Americanist collections in Spain. Since 1940 the Instituto has published the journal, Revista de Indias.

The Academy of American Franciscan History has donated a complete set of still available volumes of The Americas. A number of other journals have volunteered publication sets for the Instituto and the Bancroft Library and various individuals have aided the effort by sending duplicates.

At this time NECLAS members are urged to send reprints of their articles and copies of their books directly to the Instituto at the address given below.

Instituto address: Padre Carmelo Sáenz de Santamaria
Vicedirector
Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas
Instituto "Gonzalo Fernández de Oviedo"

FULBRIGHTS TO LECTURE IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES. Academic institutions in the USSR wish to sponsor American lecturers, in any field, who teach in languages of the constituent republics. Nominations for 1981-2 have already been made, but scholars who wish to teach in the Soviet Union in 1982-83 and who are proficient in one of the following languages are invited to express that interest at an early date: Armenian, Azerbaijani, Estonian, Georgian, Latvian, Lithuanian, Russian, or any of the Central Asian languages. For further information, contact W. A. James, CIES, 11 Dupont Circle, Washington, D.C.

WAR AND SOCIETY. For the two years 1982-3 and 1983-4 the subject of the Seminar of the Shelby Cullom Davis Center for Historical Studies at Princeton University will be War and Society. The Seminar hopes to deal with the effects of preparations for war and of war itself upon all aspects of society. This will include theories of war; the culture of war, such as codes of war, military values and military education; military organization, military technology, and their consequences; the effects of military preparations upon governmental and administrative institutions, fiscal policy, economic development, social organization, and mobilization of resources; the results of war in terms of material destruction, human losses, psychological attitudes (xenophobia or peace movements and special pressure groups -- veterans organizations--); the long-term and short-term economic benefits of war; and finally the historiography of war.

The Seminar is not interested in the tactics or strategy of war itself.

The Center will offer a limited number of Research Fellowships for one or two semesters, running from September to January and from February to June, designed for highly recommended younger scholars, as well as for senior scholars with established reputations. Candidates who have not both finished their dissertations and had at least a year of full-time teaching experience thereafter are not eligible. Fellows are expected to live in Princeton in order to take an active part in the intellectual interchange with other members of the Seminar. Funds are very limited, and candidates are, therefore, strongly urged to apply to other grant-giving institutions as well as to the Center.

Inquiries and requests for Fellowship Application Forms should be addressed to the Secretary, Davis Center for Historical Studies, 129 Dickinson Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544. The deadline for fellowship applications and letters of recommendation for 1982-83 is December 1, 1981, and for 1983-84 is December 1, 1982. Scholars who are not applicants for Fellowships but would like to visit Princeton to offer a paper to the Seminar are asked to write to the Director.

INTER-AMERICAN FOUNDATION MASTERS FELLOWSHIPS. Each year the Inter-American Foundation (IAF) awards approximately 20 fellowships to masters students to conduct field research in Latin America and the Caribbean. Through this and other fellowship programs, the Foundation is seeking to encourage increased professional and scholarly attention to developmental issues affecting poor and disadvantaged groups in the region.

The fellowship program is open to master's degree candidates in professional schools and academic programs at U.S. universities. All applicants are required to speak and write the language of the country in which they intend to do their research. Preference is given to candidates whose background and proposed research are multidisciplinary.

Application forms, help in contacting campus committees, and further information about selection procedures can be obtained either by phoning Elizabeth Veatch at 703-841-3864 or by writing to: Masters Fellowships, Inter-American Foundation, 1515 Wilson Boulevard, Rosslyn, VA 22209.
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

As I prepare this second and last annual report which will come from the Secretariat in Urbana, I believe LASA's record of achievements in 1980 to be a good one. It was a year which was highlighted by our association's continued economic stability, as noted in the financial report which follows, and one in which our membership and national meeting attendance continued to expand. The location of new homes for the Secretariat and for the Latin American Research Review was carried out by the Executive Council, guaranteeing an orderly continuation of the administration of LASA and of the publication of LARR.

1980 was the first year in which the reorganization of LASA's committee structure, which now consists largely of task forces concentrating on specific topics or problems, has begun to make an impact. While most of these committees, task forces, and planning groups did not meet formally before the Bloomington national meeting, a number of them made special preparations for that meeting. This was also the first time which LASA and a regional association, the Midwestern Association of Latin American Studies (MALAS), were full partners in the planning and staging of a national meeting. It was also the first year during which CLASP undertook responsibility for the activities of three former LASA committees (Scholarly Resources, Teaching and Outreach, and the Profession), and began to mobilize institutional as well as individual concerns for Latin American studies through their work. It is through these various LASA and CLASP task forces, planning groups, and committees that the work of the association and its influence on Latin American studies at all levels will be most effectively carried out. While this was a year in which many beginnings were made, I should like to note a number of our specific accomplishments.

The association's financial position is relatively strong, and it has improved somewhat over the previous year. The combined LASA and CLASP investments of $94,466.15 gave us total assets which were seven per cent higher for fiscal year 1980 than in 1979. However, LASA's total liabilities and fund balance of $94,466.15 were higher in 1980 by some seven per cent. The very small deficit of $28.21 of revenues over expenses indicates that we are living within our means. An increase of $10,000 in revenues over the anticipated budgeted amount was due primarily to an increase in membership, increased income from the national meeting, and higher interest received on our investments. The budget approved by the Executive Council in Bloomington for October 1, 1981 to September 30, 1982 is a conservative one, and we hope that the increasing inflation does not result in a greater depletion of our resources or a reduction in our modest investments. The extension of the Ford II and III grants until September, 1983 obtained by the Council will be especially helpful in maintaining some projects on a modest scale as other funding alternatives are investigated for the future. Finally, it should be recognized that once again the salaries and facilities of the Secretariat will be fully funded when the Secretariat moves to the University of Texas, Austin in June, 1981. This follows the pattern of support the association enjoyed while the Secretariat was housed at the Library of Congress, the University of Florida, and the University of Illinois. To my knowledge, LASA is the only area studies association which enjoys such support, and our future planning should take into consideration the possible diminishing of this level of subsidy.

Membership in LASA rose by seven per cent and in CLASP by nineteen per cent over last year, continuing a pattern we have enjoyed for several years. The final membership count for LASA was 2,324 and for CLASP it was 122. The Secretariat, LASA officers, regional associations, the Regional Liaison Committee, CLASP institutional representatives, and other individuals have all contributed to this increase. Since membership generally increases in the year in which LASA has a national meeting, the increases in 1979, when we met in Pittsburgh, and in 1980, when we met in Bloomington, may be difficult to match in 1981, a year in which there will be no LASA national meeting. The Secretariat placed heavy emphasis on increasing membership in 1980 and has laid plans to continue this activity as a heavy priority into 1981. While an increase in dues was necessary in 1980, this seems to have been accepted and understood by LASA members, and there are no apparent adverse effects on our 1981 membership as of the writing of this report. A new category of membership for junior college and secondary school teachers was established by the Council at Bloomington in recognition of important new areas and needs which the association can help to service.
Two very important Executive Council decisions in 1980 were the acceptance of the bid from the University of Texas at Austin to house and staff the Secretariat and the acceptance of the bid from the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque to house and staff the Latin American Research Review. The move to Texas should be most beneficial, since the period will be for five years, instead of the customary three years, and with a Secretariat staff which promises to be larger than we have enjoyed in the past. While the University of Illinois was prepared to continue its support for the LASA Secretariat for another two years, the five-year bid we all hoped would be possible has been realized with the University of Texas. We wish the new Executive Director, Professor Richard Sinkin, and his yet to be named staff every success.

While the securing of a new home for the Secretariat was a major undertaking and accomplishment, the selection of New Mexico as the new home for the Latin American Research Review was equally significant. We particularly were fortunate to have excellent bids from the University of Florida and the University of New Mexico and a very fine joint bid from Hunter College and City College of New York. The fact that three five-year bids were received is a tribute to the fine scholarly reputation LARR enjoys and a compliment to the LARR staff and to its present and past editors at Chapel Hill who have managed it so well. Professor Gilbert Merkx will be the new editor when the move is made to Albuquerque in July, 1982.

LASA continued its Washington presence primarily through its representation by Dr. Johanna Mendelson and others associated with the Washington Office Operations Committee. Dr. Mendelson was exceedingly generous with her advice and perceptions of events in Washington, and she steered us whenever possible along the best possible course in our dealings with members of Congress and of the federal bureaucracy with an interest in Latin American studies. She was an important link for us with persons like Paul Simon and Timothy Wirth, just several of the congressmen who were dedicated to improved funding for international studies, and she was an eloquent and effective spokesperson for our needs on a number of special occasions. Her reports and views published in several articles in the LASA Newsletter were instructive and useful. Professor Riordan Roett, Chairperson of the Washington Office Operations Committee, was appointed by the Executive Director of the National Council on Foreign Language and International Studies to chair the National Targets Panel for Latin America. His panel is part of the larger National Targets Project, which was designed to search for effective answers to fundamental questions regarding the importance of foreign language and international studies to the national interest.

Under the new committee structure, some concrete projects are underway. The Task Force on Academic Freedom and Human Rights, chaired by Professor Michael Fleet, Marquette University, prepared a statement on the violations of academic freedom and human rights in El Salvador which was distributed to members of the Junta, the Archbishop of El Salvador, the United States Ambassador to El Salvador, high officials of the State Department, and members of the U.S. House and Senate Foreign Relations Committee. A favorable reaction on the part of some members of Congress encouraged our members to accept and approve distribution of a new report of the Task Force which was presented at the LASA Business Meeting in Bloomington. Additionally, two resolutions which related to academic freedom and human rights were approved for a mail ballot to the membership and appeared in the December Newsletter. Finally, work on the human rights bibliography, a joint project of the task force with the Hispanic Division of the Library of Congress, neared completion. This important work is projected to be published by the Library of Congress in 1981.

The Task Force on International Scholarly Relations—U.S./USSR, under the chairmanship of Professor Cole Blaiser of the University of Pittsburgh, met in Pittsburgh with a Soviet delegation and planned for two conferences, one to be held in Moscow in 1981 and another in the United States in 1982, on mutual interests of U.S. and Soviet scholars in Latin American studies. The former Committee on Women was reinstated as a task force, and the Planning Group on Latin American Studies in Latin America, under the chairmanship of Professor John Hunter, Michigan State University, met with OAS personnel in Washington and drafted a report suggesting some lines of activity. In connection with that group's work, Professor William Glade, University of Texas, Austin, attended a meeting of the Sociedad Latinoamericana de Estudios Latinoamericanos y del Caribe in Caracas as LASA's representative. The contacts made there have stirred an interest in the formation of a Federación Internacional de Estudios sobre América y el Caribe, a project in which Professor Carmelo Mesa-Lago has been designated as LASA's participant. The Task Force on International Scholarly Relations--U.S./Cuba continued its efforts to maintain closer relations with Cuban scholars, and a proposal prepared by LASA's President, Professor Carmelo Mesa-Lago, in consultation with the Committee was submitted to the Ford Foundation. CLASP committees, also formed at Pittsburgh, have drawn up agendas and the Committee on Teaching and Outreach is compiling an inventory of non-print materials on Latin America which could be made available to specialists at cost or on a loan basis. LASA and CLASP additionally cooperated on two publications in the CLASP publications series. Doctoral Dissertations on Latin America and the Caribbean: An analysis and bibliography of dissertations accepted at American and Canadian universities, 1966-1970, prepared by Professor Nelly Gonzalez, University of Illinois, covers the gap in the dissertation record in an ongoing project which was originally begun some years ago by the LASA Committee on Scholarly Resources. CLASP Publication No. 11, Latin American Studies in the 1980's: Establishing LASA Priorities and Policies, by Professor Carmelo Mesa-Lago, was published as an important position paper of the President and the LASA Executive Council on priorities and directions LASA should follow in the 1980's. Distributed to each LASA member, it was intended to raise the consciousness and knowledge of our membership on the current status and future priorities of Latin American studies.

The Task Force on Hispanic Communities, chaired by Professor Oscar Martínez of the University of Texas, El Paso, has been working with Professor David Maciel of the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, and the Secretariat on a Directory of Hispanic American Latin Americanists, scheduled for publication in 1981. The publication should have many uses and terminates an ICA grant which funded a meeting earlier in Austin, Texas at which this project was recommended.

A second directory project, the updating of the National Directory of Latin Americanists, was well under way by the end of 1980. Funding from the Tinker Foundation, the Organization of American States, and the Library of Congress has been assured, and the final publication is scheduled for 1983. Dr. William Carter, Director of the Hispanic Division of the Library of Congress, planned and successfully steered the project through the various proposal stages. Tied to the National Directory project is the LASA membership data base. More than 1400 questionnaires from LASA members were collected by the Secretariat in 1980, and they, along with others received in 1981, will be shared with the Library of Congress National Directory project. Additionally, they will also serve as an informational source for a LASA data base and membership list to be further developed after LASA moves to Austin.

The CLASP annual report in the December 1980 Newsletter which was prepared by Professor Giles Wayland-Smith of Allegheny College, reflects the closer ties that have been developed between CLASP and LASA. Prominent among CLASP activities has been the workshop program which has provided modest seed grants to CLASP members. Five programs were funded in 1980, three of which were associated with regional meetings. The workshop on EMPLOYMENT PROSPECTS AND OPPORTUNITIES FOR LATIN AMERICANISTS, was organized by Dr. Johanna Mendelson for the Bloomington meeting, and another was coordinated by Professors Carl A. Ross and Allen Wells of Appalachian State University for the annual meeting of the South Eastern Council of Latin American Studies on INCORPORATING LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES INTO UNDERGRADUATE CURRICULA. The third regional workshop which was proposed by Dr. Constance Carter, Chairperson of the Inter-American Council, was conducted as part of the annual spring seminar of the IAC in Washington, D.C., and focussed on Central America. Of the remaining two workshops, one entitled MAINLAND LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN COMMUNITIES IN EASTERN UNITED STATES: MULTIPLE PERSPECTIVES was held under the direction of Professor Vera Green at Rutgers University and the fifth, which was proposed by Dr. Judith Elkin, brought together faculty from the Great Lakes Colleges Association to Dennison College for a conference on the teaching of Latin American studies on small campuses. All workshops received funding from the LASA Ford grants.

The national meeting, which along with the publication of LARR is the association's most compelling reason to exist, was held in Bloomington, Indiana on October 15-17, 1980. Slightly larger than the 1979 Pittsburgh meeting, it attracted more than 770 registrants. There were more book exhibitors than at any past meeting, and for the first time LASA was involved in the security of foreign guests, a fact that was made obvious by the presence of members of the Secret Service at the evening plenary session on Nicaragua. The accommodating of so many members on a campus in a small city could not have been handled more efficiently. The Indiana University Conference Bureau, the Local Arrangements Committee in Bloomington, Indiana University administrators, faculty, and staff members, and the LASA Program Committee worked together to make our members as comfortable as possible. It was the high tourist season in Bloomington for the fall foliage for which that part of Indiana is famous, and as special recognition of our welcome to their campus, the Indiana University Symphony orchestra prepared a special program featuring Latin American composers.

While these are the highlights of our year, it is proper to close this report with full recognition of the splendid support LASA has received from Dr. Susan Flynn, LASA's Associate Director, and Mrs. Norene McGhiey, LASA's dedicated secretary. Moreover, the association is grateful to the Tinker Foundation, the Ford Foundation, the Organization of American States, the International Communications Agency, the Lilly Endowment, the Library of Congress, and Indiana University for their generous support of LASA projects and the national meeting, and to the University of Illinois and the University of North Carolina for their continued support of the activities of the Secretariat and the Latin American Research Review.

CARIBBEAN REVIEW PUBLISHES SPECIAL ISSUE DEDICATED TO NICARAGUA AND HER NEIGHBORS

Under the special editorship of Mark B. Rosenberg, Caribbean Review has published its third special issue. The theme of the issue is Nicaragua and Her Neighbors. Within its covers, one finds analyses of the course of the Sandinista Revolution, the Nicaraguan literacy campaign, Sandinista-Indian relations, the poetry of the new Nicaraguan leaders. The alternatives before El Salvador, the future of Honduras, and the problems facing Costa Rica are all traced in function of changes in Nicaragua.

The special volume is available at $3.00 (a one-year subscription is $12) from Caribbean Review, Florida International University, Miami, FL 33199.

Further special issues planned by Caribbean Review include volumes dedicated to "The Caribbean and Latin Invasion of America" and "The New American Attitude Toward Latin America and the Caribbean."
FINANCIAL REPORT

Results of the Fiscal Year 1980. The combined balance sheet and combined statement of revenues and expenses for LASA which are included in this issue of the Newsletter have been prepared with information extracted and condensed from the annual audit report. Copies of the audited financial statements are available for review from the Secretariat.

EMPLOYMENT

LASA PROFESSIONAL PERSONNEL REGISTRY

Individuals seeking employment who are members of LASA may join the Registry at any time upon payment of a $2.50 service charge for listing in one issue. Those wishing their listing to run for more than one issue pay $2.50 for each appearance requested. There is no charge for CLASP institutions wishing to publish notices of vacancies, and a $20 charge for non-CLASP institutions. Individuals should submit pertinent educational, professional, and personal background information, as well as a statement on the type of position being sought, location desired, and date available. Vita supplied for the Registry's information will remain confidential, to be used only as a source for the listing description. Please do not send in other materials, such as pictures of copies of recommendations, as the Secretariat is unable to transmit dossiers. Institutions are asked to submit details about fields of specialization required, rank or title of position, course or job description, approximate salary range, deadline for application, and other information that would be helpful to persons seeking employment. The number of issues in which the item is to appear should be indicated. All U.S. institutions listed must be Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employers. If you are interested in a vacancy listed, please respond directly to the institution named. Letters from prospective employers in response to listings with code numbers should be individually addressed to the code number and sent to the Secretariat for forwarding to the person concerned. Address to the Code Number, c/o LASA Secretariat, 911 W. High Street, Urbana, IL 61801.

INSTITUTIONAL NEWS

THE WASHINGTON CENTER FOR LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES of the Consortium of Universities of the Washington Metropolitan Area, with the assistance of the Department of Cultural Affairs of the Organization of American States, is establishing a student exchange program with the University of Belgrano in Buenos Aires, Argentina. They expect that 15 students (graduate and undergraduate) from the six consortium universities will participate in this special educational program focusing on the Southern Cone and Brazil in June and July of 1981.

TWO NEW LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES COURSES have been developed by professors associated with the LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN CENTER OF FLORIDA INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY. William Vickers, an anthropologist, has developed a course on Comparative American Cultures which divides the people of Latin America into five cultural and subcultural classifications and topics: Tribal Indians, Peasants, Town Life and Local Elites, Rural and Urban Proletarians and National Elites and International Influences. The substantive material analyzed during the course consists of five significant ethnological works with each representing the cultural or subcultural types described above.

John Jensen, a sociolinguist, has developed a course on Hispanic American Sociolinguistics. Following a general introduction, the course addresses the three major dimensions of language variation as they occur in Latin America: regional variation or dialectology; social stratification and language variation, including the "ecology of the language" and style or regional variation. Sociolinguistics problems common to Latin America are also examined: bilingualism, and the diversity and unity of the national languages of Latin America.

Copies of both syllabi can be obtained by writing to LACC, Florida International University, Miami, FL 33199.

LASA TENTH NATIONAL MEETING, WASHINGTON, D.C., APRIL 14-17, 1982
CONFERENCES

FEBRUARY 26-28, 1981, NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON FOREIGN LANGUAGE AND INTERNATIONAL STUDIES, Baltimore, MD. The conference presented the results of the Association of American Colleges' Select Assembly deliberations held at the Wingspread Conference Center in Racine, WI, October 30-November 1. The Wingspread Conference brought together leaders in higher education, business, and government to discuss the report of the President's Commission on Foreign Language and International Studies, and to explore ways in which to strengthen weaknesses in current academic programs in these areas.

In addition to the Wingspread Conference report, the AAC is also providing the following background papers: New Developments since the Perkins Report and the General Funding Environment, including Potential Resources both Federal and Corporate, by Sven Groenning; Curriculum Development and Institutional Purposes: (1) Language and Linguistics, by R. Brod and P. Eddy, (2) International Studies, by JE Harf, and (3) Inter-Institutional Cooperation, by WW Frange; Faculty Development -- Changing Faculty Attitudes, by G. Stern; and Ethnic Studies and Implications for Foreign Language and International Studies in Bilingual and Intercultural Education and Post-Secondary Continuing Education by C. Cortez.

The INTERNATIONAL STUDIES ASSOCIATION held its 22nd Annual Convention in Philadelphia on March 18-21, 1981. The convention program, entitled "Integration and Fragmentation in a Global System," comprised some 200 panels and presentations on topics of significance to global events and American national security.

THE 7th ANNUAL SIETAR (SOCIETY FOR INTERCULTURAL EDUCATION, TRAINING AND RESEARCH) CONFERENCE was held in Vancouver on March 11-15, 1981. The theme of the conference was "Understanding People and Ideas: Approaches to Effective Intercultural Interaction."

THE 5th ANNUAL SEMINAR ON FOREIGN AREA STUDIES was held at Columbia University on February 26-27, 1981. Panels included: Language Programs: A Reassessment; New Literary Continents; "Area Studies", the Concept Reexamined; Innovations in Language Teaching; and Multicultural Translation.

THE MULTICULTURAL PROGRAM OF EASTERN NEW MEXICO UNIVERSITY sponsored the 4th CULTURAL ENCOUNTER NEW MEXICO-CHIHUAHUA on November 7, 1980. 20 Mexican professionals were joined by participants from various parts of New Mexico. The conference featured tours of paleo-Indian archaeological sites in addition to formal presentations centering upon death in Mexican and New Mexican culture. FILM

A FILM DOCUMENTARY called MARIACHI MASS has been produced at Trinity University's Border Research Institute. The 28 minute, color production is available for rental ($30 for one showing) or purchase ($150 for 3/4" videocassette or $250 for 16 mm film). The documentary presents how Mexan Americans have incorporated into the Church their roots and values stemming from their Indian heritage in Mexico. This mass, the Guadalupana Mass, pays homage to the Lady of Guadalupe with Mariachi music, festivals and Aztec dancing. Commentators discuss throughout the film the meaning of this Mass as a reflection of ethnic emergence and awareness in the Church and in society. For more information, write Border Research Institute, Box 207, Trinity University, San Antonio, TX 78284, or call Guy Poitras at 512/736-8318.
